

Sherrica Hunt, MBA

Sherrica is passionate about connecting people and businesses to resources to help them achieve their goals. She believes in the power of networking, a skill set that has enabled her to significantly impact multiple industries with diverse populations by being her authentic self and adaptable to her surroundings.

Sherrica has over 15 years of experience in domestic and international marketing and business development in various industries; investment banking, technology, human resources, nonprofit, and higher education. Sherrica has gained perspicacity in fostering and sustaining business relationships and advancing initiatives across the globe in cities and states such as Atlanta, New York City, Rome, Abu Dhabi, Dubai, Alabama, and Illinois. While serving in corporate America, she was an advocate for social responsibility by identifying and supporting local community initiatives through volunteerism and financial support.

Sherrica served in the inaugural role as director of institutional advancement at Bishop State Community College. She collaborated with the Bishop State Foundation to create a strong culture of philanthropy with alums, businesses, and the community. She was instrumental in raising over 1M+ dollars in scholarships, programming, and emergency funds. She developed the G.L.A.M. “Girls Learning About Manufacturing” program on campus to close the gender gap in the regional manufacturing industry. In her current role, she serves as the first director of development for Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion and develops strategies to ensure that every Saluki is allowed to advance their education. In her short time there, she and her colleague developed Saluki Women’s Weekend to create an experience for like-minded women to identify and cultivate the next generation of women philanthropists and server leaders.

Sherrica is a graduate of Talladega College with a BA in biology; St. John’s University Tobin College of Business with an MBA in marketing and finance; New York University with a professional certification in human resource management; and a current doctoral student studying education, policy, and law. Sherrica is a graduate of Leadership Mobile and the Leadership Alabama Initiative. She was honored in Mobile Bay Magazine as a member of the 2019 Class of 40 under 40 and as a Women’s Policy Institute Fellow for the Women’s Foundation of Alabama. She has recently served on the Board of Directors for the Boys and Girls Club of Southern Illinois and is a member of the Women in Leadership St. Louis Class #76. She has also developed a mentorship program for high school girls in Southern Illinois to assist with self and career discovery.
